

About Us

Welcome to Balance9

Balance9 was founded in the UK by Sophie Durlacher and Camilla May in 2014. Having experienced the effects of Laminine and its impact on their life, they wanted to bring it to a wider market. They also wanted to design a website that was a clear and concise portal to Laminine, but also could give in-depth information about the product without getting bogged down in reams of information

As a company Balance9's mission is to help you to change and attain optimum health and wellness. It does this by promoting the use of Laminine. At its source, Laminine is truly Mother Nature's perfect supplement for mental, physical and emotional health...naturally.

If you are seeking balance and general improvement in your life and well-being, Laminine could be perfect for you.

Laminine represents the cutting edge of supplementation, moving to the next level of healthcare. Beyond supporting our body's needs – which is what most supplements are intended to do – Laminine can actually help recalibrate and reprogram on so many levels. Rather than being a supplement to address deficiencies, its exclusive formula is designed to take us back to efficiency, creating a new age in nutritional science. You can now buy Laminine in the UK by contacting us at our London offices.

Laminine in the Press

Grazia Article April 2015

Could a protein derived from a 9 day old chicken egg be the answer to all our skin and stress issues?.....Studies have shown that after regular use collagen levels are significantly boosted leaving skin looking and feeling plumper....

PositiveHealthOnline
Integrated Medicine for the 21st Century

Positive Health Online Article 2016

by Clare G Harvey, who is a world expert on Flower Remedies

Read more >>

MailOnline

Home | News | U.S. | Sport | TV & Showbiz | Australia | Female | Health | Science | Money

Letterheadlines | Female | Fashion Profile | Food | Facial Beauty | Beauty | Wellness | Clean

- Victoria Fisher, 45, from West London, says Laminine made her Crohn's disease symptoms disappear and gave her a new lease of life
- The pill contains proteins which the body needs for tissue repair
- Doctors and detractors are sceptical of its effects

By ALICE SHELLIE FOR THE DAILY MAIL
PUBLISHED: 01:12, 4 January 2016 | UPDATED: 04:03, 4 January 2016

311 shares

There's always somebody moaning about aches and pains at dinner parties. Helpful suggestions usually involve giving up sugar and alcohol. But over the past year, the well-heeled and well-bred are murmuring about quite another solution over the roast beef.

It's the high-society supplement known as Laminine, a proprietary one-a-day tablet, produced by a U.S. company, that costs just under £1 a day and contains the amino acids - or proteins - that the body needs for vital processes such as tissue building and repair.

Scroll down for video

Daily Mail 2016

Devotees insist it calms, eases menopause symptoms and cures insomnia.

Read more >>